Mr. Frank P. Sherwood
Director
Federal Executive Institute
Charlottesville, Virginia 22903

Dear Mr. Sherwood:

Recently I have had an opportunity to review the kinds of management programs available to CIA's senior executives. I am exceedingly interested in your Residential Program in Executive Education and am pleased to repeat the high praise our officers have for it. I have also noted that the Agency has sent its senior officials to address your sessions. We would very much like to continue to do this -- and to do more.

I know the Program dwells heavily on executive skills and that seminars on foreign affairs may be only a small segment of the full syllabus, but in your planning, be assured you have a standing invitation from the Director to bring your entire group to the Agency for a day's visit and briefings. On two occasions we have had visits from the members of the foreign policy seminar. We would also be very pleased to have these visits become a regular part of that group's activities.

As you know, I will be at the Institute on Thursday to attend the Executive Officer's Group Conference. Perhaps we can find some time to exchange thoughts on CIA's contributions to the Program.

Sincerely,

W. E. Colby
